

Abstract

5 An integrated circuit including an on-board system clock, the integrated circuit including a clock filter configured to determine a temperature of the integrated circuit and to alter an output of the system clock based on the temperature.